

About the CardioVascular Coalition

Mission

Our Mission is to advance patient access to care for peripheral artery disease (PAD). Recognizing that PAD is a leading - and preventable - cause of death in the United States, the physicians, care providers, advocates, and manufacturers who comprise the Coalition are dedicated to solutions designed to improve awareness and prevention of PAD, reduce geographic disparities in access to care, and secure patient access to high-quality, interventional treatment across America.

Who We Are

The CardioVascular Coalition is comprised of national organizations representing physicians, care providers, advocates, and manufacturers who came together to advance solutions designed to improve awareness and prevention of PAD, reduce geographic disparities in access to care, and secure patient access to high-quality, cost-effective interventional treatment across America. Within the CardioVascular Coalition, there are 237 PAD treatment centers operating in 33 states.
